UDC holds luncheon meeting

By MRS. TILDEN LEE

The Appomattox Chapter of the U.D.C. met at Maudes Restaurant on Thursday, June 19 at noon for a luncheon meeting, commemorating the birthday of Jefferson Davis.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Earl R. Viar, a native of Lynchburg, and graduate of Sweet Briar College. She has been active in the educational profession in Amherst, Campbell County and Lynchburg Schools. She is a member of the Old Dominion Chapter of the U.D.C. and a great history enthusiast.

Mrs. Viar spoke to the 25 members and guests about Jefferson Davis as a young boy who entered West Point at the age of 16 in the early 1820's.

At that time West Point was a young school, raw and crude and plain compared to the beautiful buildings and grounds of today. Young Jeff was assigned to a room 11 feet square and occupied by two other cadets. They had to buy their own plain furniture-a table, straight-backed chair, mattress, washstand, pitcher, slop-pail, small mirror and basin. Each room had a broom and scrub-bucket, and each boy was room orderly for a week.

In the winter the rooms were heated by log fires and the cadets bathed in a tub in front of the heart. In summer they took their baths in the Hudson River.

The cadets' pay was $16.00 a month plus $12.00 subsistence allowance. His most frequent delinquency was visiting in the rooms of other cadets during study hours, and his most frequent offense was tardiness.

One day he received a demerit for "going to class before the proper time." There just seemed no way he could win!

But finally on a July day in 1828, Davis, having passed his final examination, was appointed a second lieutenant in the Infantry of the United States Army. In his academic record he ranked 23rd out of 33 members of his class; and on the basis of conduct he ranked 163rd out of 208 cadets.

From now on, always and forever, he was to carry with him the words of the West Point motto, "duty, honor, and country."

Somewhere on that wind-swept hilltop overlooking the Hudson River the young cadet had learned to build courage when courage seemed to fail; to regain faith when there seemed little cause for faith; to create hope when hope seemed forlorn."

It was there at West Point he was molded for his future role as the custodian of the South.

Mrs. Hazel Lee Martin, president of the local chapter, returned thanks for the meal.

Mrs. Martin presided at the business session.

Mrs. Harriett Cunningham let the group in Pledge to the United States flag, and in salutes to the Virginia and Confederate flags.

The ritual and confederate prayer was given by Mrs. Martin.

Since it was Mrs. Ethel Martins' (chapter members) 87th birthday the chapter presented her with a gift, wishing her many happy returns of the day.

MISS NADINE BUGG, "Miss Appomattox" 1980 is preparing for her trip to Roanoke where she will represent Appomattox in the 1980 "Miss Virginia" pageant, on July 12. This photo was taken of Miss Bugg at the Appomattox Historical Park, where she was previously employed. She is currently employed at J. E. Sears & Co., Inc. and Falling River Country Club.

Tribute to blood donors

The Red Cross Bloodmobile made its regular visit to Appomattox on Monday of this week.

With the quota set for the visit at 100 units, a total of 106 units of blood were donated.

The following is dedicated to the many faithful volunteers who make the bloodmobile visits so successful.

BLOODMOBILE VOLUNTEERS ARE . . .
Volunteers are like Ford:
They have better ideas.
Volunteers are like Coke:
They are the real thing.
Volunteers are like Pan Am:
They make the going great.
Volunteers are like Dial soap:
They care more, don't you wish everybody did?
Volunteers are like VO 5 Hair spray:
Their goodness holds in all kinds of weather.
Volunteers are like Hallmark cards:
They care enough to give the very best.
Volunteers are like Standard Oil:
You expect more and you get it.
BUT MOST OF ALL . . .
Volunteers are like frosted flakes:
They are really GREAT!
